To Whom It May Concern

When we commenced our renovation we thought we would be able to do it all ourselves and then reality hit and we realised if we wanted the renovation finished before 2020 then we needed help – enter Paul Farthing and PTF Constructions.

Paul helped us make informed decisions and provided us with good advice right throughout our project. Paul was the brains behind some very clever ideas that allowed us to do things we would not have otherwise been able to do had Paul not found us an alternative way around some issues we faced renovating and older home.

We love our award winning home and would be very proud to talk too or show anyone through our home who were considering working with PTF Constructions and would like to see their workmanship first hand.

We certainly know who we will call when we get the urge to take on such a massive task again.

We have already recommended Paul and his team to family and friends and will continue to do so (even to the people who knock on our door and ask who built our beautiful house).

Kind Regards
